

● Event Rules :

1. The " Be brave, say no to sexual harassment " activity must be completed within the specified date.
2. All of the foreigners who live in Taiwan, Penghu, Kinmen, and Matsu and legally working in Taiwan can participate.
3. Participant eligibility, lottery information and winner eligibility for the event must be reviewed and approved by the organizers.
4. The list of winners is subject to the announcement of the organizer.
5. Participants agree to observe the rules drafted by the organizers (including but not limited to the use or announcement of participant personal data including how to contact them) and agree to the regulations and method of selection used to determine event winners, based on the internal computer systems of the organizers or other commissioned event organizing agency; Failure to do so will result in disqualification from participating or winning prizes.
6. Participants must guarantee that all information filled in or provided is true and accurate, and they have not misused or misappropriated the information of a third party. In the event information is found to be false or inaccurate, individuals will be disqualified from participating or winning prizes; In the event the organizers or a third party incur losses as a result of such behavior, all liability for damages will fall on the participant.
7. In the event a participant does not contact the event organizers within the stipulated time period, in accordance with the event method of communication, they will be considered to have forfeited their eligibility to win a prize.
8. In the event a participant is disqualified from participating or winning a prize for any of the aforementioned reasons, or is unable to contact the event organizers within the stipulated time period, the organizers will not retroactively provide a prize, any other form of compensation or reimbursement. The prize will be given to the reserve lottery winner in order of selection. If the number of reserve lottery winners is insufficient there will be no rerun of the prize draw.
9. Prizes cannot be converted, transferred or exchanged for cash.
10. The accumulated prize value exceeds NT$1,000 in the activities handled by 1955, the event undertaking unit will issue a withholding voucher to the winner in accordance with its value and tax laws and incorporate it into the individual's annual comprehensive income declaration.

Therefore, when receiving the prizes and bonuses, the winners must provide a copy of the document containing the legal residence document number, and fill in the list of details of the prize receiving including the residence address and mailing address for the undertaking unit issuing withholding vouchers in accordance with the law. If the total of the award money and prize value exceeds NT$20,000, the winner must pay 10% of the prize value income tax.

11. If a foreigner stays in Taiwan for less than 183 days in total, regardless of the amount of the prize, he must pay in advance 20% of the prize value income tax in accordance with the tax law.
12. In the event a participant suffers a loss as a result of participating in the event or the prizes offered, the organizers do not accept any liability.
13. If the information used for postal or registration purposes by the main organizer/event organizers is subject to unidentified delays, losses, errors or damages caused by technological factors such as computers, internet connection, telephones of force majeure, participants cannot use this to lodge an objection or seek compensation.
14. The organizers reserve the right to expand, amend, interpret or terminate the event, event regulations and prizes, and the final submission date. Other areas not covered will be dealt with based on information published on the FB Fans Page and official website. In the event that force majeure makes it impossible to adhere to announcement or notification dates, such as the lottery date or listing of prize winners, the organizers will do so once the force majeure circumstances end.

1. .Important notice regarding the collection of personal information and statement of consent on the voluntary supply of personal information

(1) Notice of collection of personal information

Please be informed of the following under law before your supply of your personal information to the organizer/executor for the abidance of the Personal Information Protection Act:

(A) The organizer/executor collect information on your real name, telephone number, FB ID, FB photo and photocopy of your residence visa containing your personal information for the lucky draw for a price of the " Be brave, say no to sexual harassment " marketing campaign. The types of personal information for collection are: "C001 for personal identification", "C002 financial status identification", and "C003 identification among government information".

(B) The organizer/executor collects, processes and uses your personal information accordance with the Personal Information Protection Act and other applicable laws, and the privacy protection policy of the organizer/executor. The information will be kept until 2025/03/30, and will be deleted after that date.

(C) The organizer/executor will use your personal information reasonably within the perpetuity of the purpose of collecting your personal information.

(D) The organizer/executor will use your personal information inside the Republic of China only.

(E) Pursuant to Article 3 of the Personal Information Protection Act, you may request the organizer/executor for the exercise of the following rights pertaining to your personal information in writing or e-mail:

- I. Inquiry or request for viewing.
- II. Request for photocopies.
- III. Request for feeding supplementary information or rectification.
- IV. Request for stop collecting, processing and use.
- V. Request for deletion.

The organizer/executor disclaims any responsibility of the damages caused by the impairment of your rights and privileges due to your exercise of the aforementioned rights. Pursuant to Article 14 of the Personal Information Protection Act, the organizer/executor may charge a fee for the service.

VI. You understand that this statement of consent is congruent with the requirements of the Personal Information Protection Act and other applicable laws, and further agree that the organizer/executor may keep this document for subsequent inspection.

(2) Voluntary supply of personal information

(A) I fully acknowledge of the aforementioned notice.

I agree that VIC DIGITAL NETWORK ADVISOR may collect, process and use my personal information provided by myself within the scope and purpose of collection for the “Be brave, say no to sexual harassment.